

2018 - 2019 Alleyn's Junior School Public Benefit

Alleyn's Junior School is committed to supporting public benefit, notably within our local communities of South London. As well as benefitting those in such communities, our own children gain a broader understanding of the society in which they live and how their actions and responsibilities as citizens can make a difference.

Wherever possible, the children themselves will lead initiatives after speaking to their peers in assemblies.

Along with our Senior School, we post some of these public benefits on the ISC (Independent Schools Council) Schools Together website and we are proud to be associated with the many initiatives occurring within the wider school.
