This year the weather has been the main talking point. This time it was mainly cloudy, warm with a light breeze. It was pleasant golfing weather except that the last groups finished in a light shower. The golf course had suffered like all courses from the wet spring and hot dry summer, the grass on the fairways and in the rough being very patchy. The greens however were lush and very dark green which made them slow to putt on but still firm to pitch to. However there were some good scores returned. The attendance was good at 19 but we missed the Chimp who is in the wars again having slipped playing golf and badly damaged his shoulder – we send him our best wishes for a speedy recovery. The clubhouse/hotel staff looked after us very well and the catering was excellent.
